

THIS IS A DAY THE LORD HAS MADE.

The sunrise is so beautiful
As it touches each thing in gold,
Awakening a sense of wonder,
Almost more than my heart can hold.
And I am glad and unafraid
For this is the day the Lord has made.

Now problems begin to worry me
And storms start to gather about,
Ending the day in confusion
As my mind is tortured with doubt,
But this is the day the Lord has made.

I am learning as I walk each day
To accept any kind of weather.
The pattern of life is woven
From the good and the bad together.
So I am glad and unafraid
For this is the day the Lord has made.

Ruby Tobey

(c) copyright